What's New?!

A Sneak Peek at Some of the New Games & Attractions Heading to Orlando

This is surely not an all-inclusive list of everything that'll be new on the trade show floor in Orlando, but it will give you a good idea of what to expect in much of the coin-op and FEC attraction sectors. We asked manufacturers to give us details on all the games and machines making their U.S. debut at IAAPA. There are some in the list that may have been shown before as prototypes or were announced earlier in the year. Also, note that some game and attraction makers like to surprise attendees, so be on the lookout for other gems on the show floor. Here, in mostly their own words, is what you need to know:

Black Widow Recharged
Video Game

Shipping: January

Black Widow Recharged brings Atari's classic twin-stick shooter back to the arcade as a fast-paced 2-player experience featuring modern neon visuals, dual-joystick controls, power-ups and increasingly intense enemy waves. Players battle swarms of insects, destroy eggs before they hatch and tackle unique "Challenge Waves" while playing solo, competitively or cooperatively to chase higher scores. Integrated Major League eSports (MLeS) adds leaderboards, tournaments, achievements and cross-game progression, while interactive lighting, shaker motors, wind effects and optional ticket redemption bring the action beyond the screen.

Breakout Infinity
Video Redemption

Shipping: This Month

Breakout Infinity transforms Atari's legendary brick-breaking classic into a 2-player sit-down arcade experience, featuring precision spinner controls, strategic Bit Control, power-ups and 128 waves of gameplay. An oversized Mirror FX display combines dual screens and mirror glass to create a dramatic layered 3D effect, while dedicated player stations, integrated seating and illuminated controls deliver a premium presentation. Players can also complete operator-adjustable challenges to win exclusive physical Atari and Alan-1 collectible cards.

What's New?!

Butts on Things Megaspin
Video Redemption
Shipping: Q1 2027

Butts on Things Megaspin is a colorful single-player game that brings the absurd and collectible world of Butts on Things to the arcade floor. Players spin the digital wheel to chase winning outcomes, tickets and physical Butts on Things collectible cards dispensed directly from the cabinet. Simple spin-based gameplay, fast sessions, humorous character artwork and an ongoing card-collecting chase create an approachable experience designed to encourage repeat play.

Turbo Curling: Arctic Rush
Video Redemption
Shipping: December

Turbo Curling: Arctic Rush brings the strategy and skill of curling to the arcade as a 2-player physical and digital sports experience, where players slide a weighted curling stone before taking control of its movement on screen. Dedicated sweep controls let players influence the stone's distance and direction, combining throwing strength, accuracy and timing as they compete in solo or head-to-head play. The game features dual HD displays, dynamic commentary, a built-in camera and leaderboards, and ticket redemption.

Quantum Recharged
Video Game
Shipping: January

Quantum Recharged brings Atari's classic concept back to the arcade as a fast-paced single-player experience built around precision trackball controls, loop-based combat and competitive high-score play. Players surround enemies with increasingly ambitious loops while using Quantum Surge, Dash and Entropy Bomb abilities to balance risk, survival and higher scoring opportunities. This "recharged" game also offers integrated MLeS.

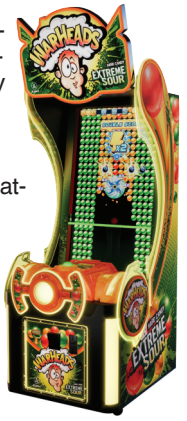

Ring Pop Drop
Redemption
Shipping: December

Ring Pop Drop is a fast-paced single-player redemption game that brings the colorful Ring Pop candy brand to the arcade in a simple, timing-based skill challenge. Players watch the moving drop position and use a one-button control to release at just the right moment, with precision determining where the drop lands and how many tickets they win.

Warheads
Video Redemption
Shipping: December

Warheads blends physical and digital gameplay using a real ball, interactive touchscreen, actuating bar and steering yoke. Players tilt the bar to guide the ball across the screen, testing their timing, accuracy and control as they hit digital targets, build their score and earn tickets. A built-in camera captures each player's "Extreme Sour Face" and displays it alongside their high score on the leaderboard, bringing the personality of the brand directly into the experience.

Circus Ring
Prize Merchandiser
Shipping: January

Circus Ring brings a "fresh approach to the emerging hook-and-ring merchandiser category," the company says, combining simple, intuitive gameplay with precision skill. Players use two controls to position and lower a tethered ring, attempting to catch a hook that lifts a prize door and releases the reward. The colorful, circus-themed cabinet accommodates four prize positions, multiple ring sizes and adjustable difficulty levels. Featuring Dream Funs' innovative ring-reset mechanism, Circus Ring is offered exclusively in the U.S. by Andamiro USA in its single-player configuration.

Disney's Mickey & Friends
Coin Pusher
Shipping: February

This game is a major new Disney-licensed coin pusher featuring six player stations and a combination of mechanical action and collectible card play. Players use joystick-directed coin placement to activate checker targets, raise animated balloons and trigger "Mini Spin" and "Big Spin" bonus events. A rotating character-plate mechanism releases collectible cards onto the playfield. Featuring Mickey Mouse and five beloved Disney characters, the attraction offers two distinct collectible card series, each with its own set-completion bonus, adding depth and repeat-play appeal.

Dragons
Redemption
Shipping: Now

Inspired by DreamWorks Animation's How to Train Your Dragon, Dragons introduces an arcade concept Andamiro calls "pushinko," combining pachinko-style ball action with traditional pusher mechanics. Players launch balls through an upper peg field, triggering bonus opportunities that feed the action below. The 2-player attraction features interactive "Dragon Chance" bonus play, a moving ball-pusher mechanism and 13 collectible character cards.

Nickelodeon Kart Racers Arcade
Racing Game
Shipping: December

Console-style racing comes to the arcade floor with Nickelodeon Kart Racers Arcade, featuring 24 character karts and 12 colorful racecourses. Players compete as favorites from SpongeBob SquarePants, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles and other Nickelodeon franchises, using power-ups, shortcuts and slime-themed obstacles. Now featuring production software version 1.00, the game supports up to eight linked cabinets for competitive multiplayer racing. A 43" HD display, force-feedback steering and responsive pedals complete this family-friendly racing attraction.

Resident Evil 2 Arcade
Deluxe Video Shooter
Shipping: Q1 2027

Bandai Namco, under license from Capcom, will debut its arcade gun-shooting version of Resident Evil 2 at IAAPA, one of the most globally popular titles in the blockbuster Resident Evil franchise.

"As an iconic title, it strongly appeals to both hardcore fans and horror entertainment enthusiasts alike, encouraging first-time players to try the game," said Bandai Namco. "Thanks to the strong pull of this brand, the machine stands out as a centerpiece of the venue, drives high player turnover, and greatly contributes to the facility's energy."

Said the factory, "As an arcade-exclusive machine, it's all about providing the 'ultimate hands-on experience.' The game comes with a huge 75" monitor and a 5.1-channel surround system, plus a blowback-style handgun controller that gives you a sharp kick when you shoot, delivering precise shooting action. Physical gimmicks like floor vibrations and air blasts that react to in-game action, giving you a high-quality, immersive experience that hits all your senses."

Uniquely, the Resident Evil 2 Arcade cabinet has a back panel and side curtains that make it hard for anyone outside the game to see the extreme visuals, allowing it to be safely installed even in family-friendly facilities with young children.

This game brings the classic charm of mechanical flip numbers to life. Players must stop the numbers and try to line up three matching numbers, with combinations such as 1-1-1, 2-2-2 and 3-3-3 to win the prize displayed on the corresponding shelf.

Prize Mart
Prize Merchandiser
Shipping: Q1 2027

This 2-player prize game incorporates classic pinball-style plunger gameplay with a twist. Players must pull back and release the plunger to launch the ball toward a series of illuminated zones with different colored holes offering different prize tiers. Once a ball lands in a prize zone, a new prize is added to the playfield, pushing the existing prizes towards the winning zone.

Shooting Carnival
Redemption
Shipping: Q1 2027

With this one, SEGA is bringing the sights, sounds and thrills of the classic fairground shooting gallery to the arcade floor. Inspired by vibrant carnivals, fireworks and fairground attractions, the company said the game's artwork, LED lighting and eye-catching centrepiece are designed to grab attention from across a venue. Players use pneumatic carnival-styled rifles to knock down a variety of interactive targets, each delivering unique mechanical reactions including spinning, bouncing and falling effects.

The Floor is Lava
Redemption
Shipping: Q1 2027

Players roll balls across a "lava-filled" playfield, aiming for the target at the back to rack up points. While this sounds simple enough, large gaps representing the lava stand in the way. Luckily, there are three independently moving platforms that form a safe pathway across the danger zones. Every roll requires careful timing and precision to line up the platforms and guide the ball safely across into the target. Roll too early or too late and the ball drops into the lava filled voids, which means lower scores.
